Privacy is important to WADR LAW PLLC ("WADR LAW"). This privacy policy (this "Privacy Policy") describes how your personal information is collected, used, and shared when you visit <https://www.wadrlaw.com> or utilize our services available through our website (the "Site"). By engaging with our services (collectively, the "Services"), you are consenting to the collection, use, sharing, and storage of your personal information, as described below. If you have any questions, comments or concerns about this Privacy Policy, please send us an email at info@wadrlaw.com.

Personal Information We Collect

For purposes of this Privacy Policy, "Personal Information" means any information that identifies or relates to a particular individual. For users of the Services, Personal Information may include your full name and email address; and interests, comments, requests, and other information you may offer. We may also automatically collect other information as you interact with the Services, including your IP address, Site visits, page response times, and page interaction information, as well as information from cookies.

How We Use Personal Information

We use Personal Information to facilitate the provision of your requested services, such as to fulfill legal service requests. We may also use Personal Information to improve our products and services, communicate with you regarding the Services, and comply with applicable legal or regulatory obligations.

Why We Share Personal Information

We do not share your information for commercial purposes. We may share your information with service providers that perform tasks on our behalf; to comply with legal processes or cooperate with law enforcement; or in the event of a business transfer such as a merger or acquisition.

Sub-processors: Squarespace (site hosting and processing of contact information) and Substack (newsletter hosting and email address collection).

Safety Measures

We have taken industry standard precautions and implemented safeguards to preserve the security and confidentiality of Personal Information, including encryption (HTTPS/TLS). However, no data transmission over the Internet is fully secure, so WADR LAW cannot guarantee the total and complete security of Personal Information transmitted in this way.

Your Rights

If you would like to access, modify, or delete your personal information, you may submit a request to info@wadrlaw.com. If you are a resident of California, Colorado, Connecticut, Nevada, Utah, Virginia, or Vermont, the law may provide you with additional rights regarding our use of your Personal Information.

Minors

The Site is not intended for individuals under the age of eighteen (18). WADR LAW will not knowingly collect Personal Information from children.
